Bites & Insights IN THE BOARDROOM

There are just a couple of seats left, in case you haven't signed up but still want to attend the Behind the Scenes tour with our Operations & Engineering team. As a quick reminder, we will meet in The Boardroom to enjoy a few light snacks while getting a brief introduction to the team. Then, we'll head to the basement to learn about the inner workings of the buildings. Seating is limited, so scan or click the QR code to sign up!

Do you know the four different types of wax used to make candles? Or the do's and don'ts about putting a candle's flame out? Did you know that a person who makes candles is called a "chandler"? We've partnered with CRAV Co, a company redefining experiences through custom scents. Come learn some fun facts about candles, scents and wicks all while creating your own custom-scented candle. For a little extra pizzazz, you will get to name your candle scent too! A link to sign up for this class will be in the April newsletter...so stay tuned!

Security Tenant Safety Training

City Center's Security team is once again hosting the Tenant Safety Training this April. The security team sent an email to each tenant safety representative to RSVP for the training already. However, if your Safety Representative hasn't received the email yet, or if there has been a change to this role in your office, please contact security directly at: workrequest@ccsecurity.com.

It is recommended that all Tenant Safety Representatives from your office attend one of the trainings available this April as the topics covered are important to understand should there be an emergency in or around your space.

Topics covered during the training include emergency preparedness for weather-related or fire events within the buildings, who to call in case of a medical emergency, what to do if you see a suspicious person on-site, and so much more!
